Kigali, Rwanda (October 21, 2025): In January 2026, The Pinnacle Kigali will officially open to the international market, following a successful soft opening and the debut of its private Members Club earlier this year. Located in the serene heights of Rebero Hills, this nine-room ultra-luxury retreat brings a new level of refinement to Rwanda's capital. Independently owned by Rwandan entrepreneur; Sheila Kyarisiima, The Pinnacle offers an experience that blends elegance, authenticity, and contemporary African design.

Positioned as a retreat within the city, The Pinnacle offers travelers an elevated pause before or after exploring Rwanda's wild interior, especially those visiting for the country's famed gorilla trekking in Volcanoes National Park. The hotel's setting, just ten kilometers from Kigali International Airport, offers sweeping views of the city's green hills and a sense of calm that feels distinctly apart from its bustle. At the same time, The Pinnacle hopes to encourage travelers to linger in Kigali itself to discover a city whose culinary and art scenes are among the most vibrant and fast-evolving in East Africa.

“The Pinnacle is an expression of what modern African luxury can be,” says Sheila Kyarisiima, Founder and Owner. “It’s about creating a place that feels global but grounded in Rwanda’s warmth, creativity, and grace. Every element, from design to service, is guided by that balance.”

The Pinnacle features nine individually designed guest rooms, each appointed with bespoke furnishings, deep soaking tubs, smart lighting, and curated pan-African art. The hotel’s amenities are extensive for its scale: a rooftop bar and restaurant overlooking the city, a saltwater infinity pool, a full-service spa and wellness center, and a modern fitness facility. For entertainment and relaxation, guests can enjoy a 21-seat Dolby Atmos private cinema, a four-lane bowling alley, a games lounge, and a library for quieter moments of reflection.

The hotel’s dedicated concierge team is available to coordinate airport transfers and city excursions using The Pinnacle’s fleet of fully electric vehicles. These vehicles reflect the property’s broader commitment to sustainability, which also includes solar-powered energy systems, rainwater harvesting, grey water recycling, and an on-site purification system that eliminates single-use plastics. A kitchen garden supplies fresh ingredients to the restaurant, while composting and waste reduction practices help minimize the hotel’s environmental footprint. Together, these initiatives allow guests to explore Kigali in quiet comfort and enjoy the property’s luxuries with the reassurance that every detail has been considered with sustainability in mind.

Dining is central to the experience, with four restaurants serving Afro-Asian fusion, pan-European and Mediterranean-inspired menus alongside teppanyaki cuisine. Guests can sample vintages from an extensive wine cellar of more than 1,000 bottles, or end the evening in the Champagne and whiskey lounges crated for private gatherings and conversation.

The Pinnacle is also home to The Pinnacle Members Club, a private social and business club for Kigali’s local and international community of entrepreneurs, creatives, and cultural leaders. Members enjoy exclusive access to the property’s amenities and programming, as well as reciprocal privileges at more than forty global clubs through a growing list of partnerships; including with Onda and Sonato.

Guests traveling to Rwanda’s gorilla highlands will have the option to return to the property on their departure day through a new “Departure Amenity,” which grants full access to the hotel’s facilities at no additional cost. Designed for those awaiting international flights, the experience offers a place to refresh, dine, or unwind in the spa and lounges, eliminating the need for a day room and extending the property’s signature hospitality until the moment of departure. Guests also have the option to book a Day Use rate to have access to a private room before their departure.

In addition to the “Departure Amenity”, each stay includes a suite of bespoke services, from VIP airport meet-and-greet and expedited clearance to private transfers to and from the hotel. Guests receive a 30-minute massage per person with a Room reservation or a 60-minute massage per person with a Suite reservation. Laundry and post-trek shoe care are also included as part of the experience. Nightly rates start at $3,090, while day-use rates begin at $1,545. Reservations for 2026 are available at www.thepinnaclekigali.com or by email stay@thepinnaclekigali.com.
